Level 7 Solicitor.

The Level 7 Solicitor Apprenticeship offers an alternative route to qualify as a solicitor for those who have not completed a law degree or law conversion course.

Our highly flexible programme offers different entry points depending on any accredited prior learning you may have, making it suitable for those who are new to law and those who have a law qualification but not a law degree.

Whatever your entry point, you'll develop the legal skills, technical knowledge and professional attributes required to become a fully-qualified solicitor. You'll learn how to carry out the fundamental responsibilities encountered in legal practice, including handling complex and confidential information, drafting documents and carrying out research. You'll also gain a comprehensive understanding of the importance of ethics while exercising your professional judgement to handle legal matters from enquiry through to completion.

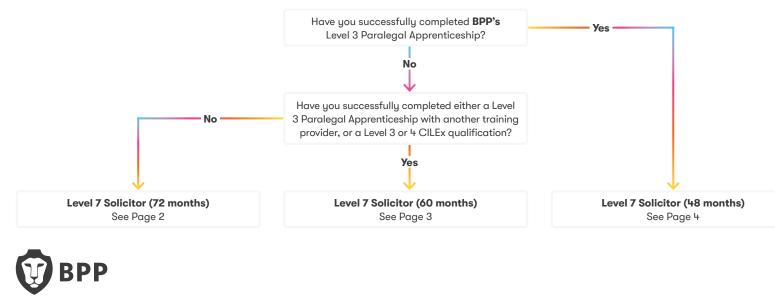

On successful completion you'll gain a recognised qualification that is equivalent to a traditional academic law degree. You'll also undertake the Solicitors Qualifying Examination (SQE) assessments, making you day-one ready for a career as a practicing solicitor.

To apply for this programme you must be employed in a relevant role, and, as a minimum requirement, have:

- Three A-Levels equivalent to 128 UCAS points
- Five GCSEs with grades 9 to 4 (A* to C), including English and maths, plus any additional employer requirements
- We will accept other qualifications and UCAS points at our discretion
